

OCEANA COUNTY FRIEND OF THE COURT
100 STATE STREET, SUITE M-10
HART, MI 49420

REASONABLE
PARENTING TIME
POLICY

Michigan law recognized that it is in the best interest of the child(ren) that parenting time occur in a frequency, duration, and type reasonably calculated to promote a strong relationship between the child(ren) and the parent. Ideally, parents develop their own parenting time schedules that take into consideration the unique circumstances of their family. The following policy and procedures have been developed for those situations when parents cannot reach an agreement, and a parenting time schedule is not otherwise addressed through an order.

These policies have been developed based upon the assumption that the parents lived together with the child(ren) for an extended period of time and that there is a normal degree of familiarity between the non-custodial parent and the child(ren). A parenting time schedule will have to be considered on a case-by-case basis when this is not the situation, or, if there has been an extended absence by the non-custodial parent.

Parenting time and child support are separate issues and are not dependent upon each other. As a rule, parenting time should continue whether support is being paid or not, and likewise, support must be paid whether or not parenting time is occurring.

Neither parent should use the parenting time as an occasion to cause concern or anxiety to the child(ren). The custodial parent should use all reasonable means to ensure that the parenting time occurs provided that no excessive force is used. In general, the following ARE NOT appropriate reasons for denying parenting time.

Neither the custodial parent nor the non-custodial parent should enroll the child(ren) in excessive activities that serve to interfere with the other's ability to spend time with the child(ren)

Parents shall keep one another apprised of all the child(ren)'s activities so the other parent has the opportunity to attend or participate in the activity, even if the activity occurs when the non-custodial parent does not otherwise have scheduled parenting time.

TIME FOR PARENTING TIME EXCHANGE

Neither parent shall do anything to inconvenience the other in the exchange of the child(ren). Arriving late by no more than thirty (30) minutes may be acceptable in exceptional circumstances, but should never become the norm. A parent should be late, only when a legitimate, unavoidable, reason exists for being late. A parent who anticipates being late shall contact the other parent as soon as possible.

Additionally, a parent shall not be early for parenting time as this may cause undue disruption for the child(ren) and the other parent.

FOUR-HOUR RULE REGARDING DAY CARE (RIGHT OF FIRST REFUSAL)

The Four-Hour Rule (Right of First Refusal) may be implemented upon specific order of the Court. The Friend of the Court shall review and determine if implementation of the Four-Hour Rule is in the best interests of the child(ren). This provision may only be considered when the custodial or non-custodial parent is unable to care for their child(ren) during their parenting time, for a period of time in excess of four hours, and are required to find and provide alternate child care. exchanges shall occur in a public place, at a designated neutral exchange site. If the parties are unable to determine a neutral exchange site, the Friend of the Court shall make the determination.

ALCOHOL AND DRUGS

At no time shall the parent indulge excessively in alcoholic beverages, nor shall the parent take any drugs or controlled substances without said drugs or controlled substances having been prescribed by a licensed physician.

INHERENT RIGHTS OF THE CHILD(REN)

The minor child(ren) of the parties has an inherent right to the affection and love of both parents and to a relationship with them. Neither parent shall take any action that might estrange the minor child(ren) from the other parent or tend to discredit, cause disrespect to, or diminish the quality of the relationship with the other parent.

OMISSIONS AND OVERSIGHTS

In the event a matter or situation arises that is not otherwise provided for in this policy, the office of the Oceana County Friend of the Court shall have authority to render a decision. The personnel of the Friend of the Court office, in reaching a decision, shall rely on the Michigan Parenting Time Guideline, as published by the Michigan Supreme Court, and/or, the usual past practices of the Oceana County Circuit Court.
